When addressing questions of significance, the term presented in bold represents the key element requiring a definition response.

If a word can have multiple meanings, a sentence will be written below to put the word in context.

When you complete the language section, the organisation can choose any of the three languages you have been studying so far this year. If there are multiple variations of the language (e.g the language changes slightly depending on the country where it is spoken), the variation name will be listed next to the language in English.

Turn over for more information.
